The Ministry of Culture of the Czech Republic

The Ministry of Culture of the Czech Republic is the central authority of public administration for the area of arts, cultural education and national heritage. Among those other functions, it also administers libraries. Since its creation it has supported Czech culture abroad; shielding Czech culture and its representation in the frame of book fairs worldwide is an inseparable part of this conceptual support.

MINISTRY OF CULTURE
CZECH REPUBLIC

The Moravian Library

The Moravian Library is one of the forefront memory institutions in the Czech Republic. Its creation dates back to the beginning of the nineteenth century. It fulfils the basic functions of a library, conducts scientific research and representative tasks as well. It has also been assigned to represent the Czech book culture at foreign book fairs by its founder – the Ministry of Culture of the Czech Republic.
